

Bringer of New Life

One Sunday morning, my friend Jessica received a vision from the Holy Spirit. As she shared it, God gave me the inspiration to bring that vision to life through this painting.

The message was this:

Jesus said that when you walk in Him—in the fullness of Christ—one step at a time, everything along the path behind you begins to spring forth with life.

What was once dead becomes like a garden, testifying to the life you now live in Him. It was a beautiful picture: just one step at a time, walking in Him.

You don't have to see the entire path ahead. You simply have to keep walking in the fullness of Christ that He purchased for you.

And everything you thought had been robbed from you—everything that seemed lost, barren, or beyond restoration—is about to come forth and flourish in the name of Jesus.

That is the heart behind Bringer of New Life: a reminder that as we continue to walk with Him, what lies behind us can become a testimony of the life He has brought forth.
